20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

DACOWITS is a valuable asset to evaluate and validate present and future personnel and readiness policies within the Department of Defense that may impact women, as well as their families. The Office of the Under Secretary of Defense Personnel and Readiness, establishes topics annually. The Committee investigates these topics through a series of briefings, literature reviews, and focus groups with Service members at multiple installations. The Committee then reviews, generates recommendations, and produces a report that is provided to the Secretary of Defense.

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

The Committee shall be composed of not more than 20 members, representing a distribution of demography, professional career fields, community service, and geography, and selected on the basis of their experience with the military or with women's workforce issues. This balance of backgrounds is reflected in the current committee members.

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The Committee holds four business meetings per year. At the meetings, the Committee receives training, briefings on research, policies, and programs specifically aimed at the Committee's annual topics. They take time to discuss their experiences learned from focus groups results during installation visits. They also interact with guest speakers and subject matter experts on relevant topics. At the end of the year, the members use the meeting time to review and discuss gathered information, develop recommendations, and write their annual report to the Secretary of Defense.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The Secretary of Defense has determined that the independent advice the Committee provides is essential in the management of DoD's officer and enlisted force management, addressing issues unique to women who serve in the Military Services, and the integration of women into newly opened military occupational specialties or career opportunities.

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

N/A

21. Remarks

The agency determination to establish this discretionary advisory committee was made by Secretary Marshall in 1951. It has been continued during each periodic review required by law or by the agency since that time. DACOWITS provides advice and recommendations in an annual report to the Secretary of Defense. These recommendations are generated from information/data gathered during quarterly meetings and from formal literature reviews. Additional information is gathered during Committee travel to military installations to perform in-person focus groups with Service members. DACOWITS is one of the only advisory committees that uses this technique to attain first hand input. In FY17 the Committee traveled to five installations, held 54 focus groups, and talked with over 550 Service members, gathering vital information to support their recommendations. DACOWITS receives research support from a contractor. The contractor performs comprehensive focus group training with DACOWITS members; conducts an Institutional Review Board (IRB) to test the protocol perimeters for subjects; records, compiles, and analyzes both the qualitative and quantitative data the Committee collects from focus groups during installation visits; supplements current research materials on the various issues analyzed; and compiles a comprehensive report detailing the installation visit data, analysis, supplemental research, and conclusions; all of which help inform and refine the DACOWITS' recommendations to the Secretary of Defense. Department of Defense (DoD) policy between fiscal year 2007 and 2011 required that subcommittee members be listed separately in the subcommittee section of GSA's Database, even if they were duly appointed members of the parent committee. This policy, in some instances, caused a duplication of entries. Beginning in fiscal year 2012, DoD will only list in the subcommittee section of GSA's Database those who are appointed to just a subcommittee. If an individual is appointed to the parent committee and to one of the committee's authorized subcommittees then his or her subcommittee affiliation will be reflected in the parent committee membership section of GSA's Database.

Narrative Description

The Under Secretary of Defense for Personnel and Readiness (P&R) is responsible for the recruitment and retention of highly qualified and professional females to serve in the armed services. Women add diversity to our military. This diversity maximizes the value of building a team comprised of multiple backgrounds and talent sets. It allows the services to take advantage of unique life experiences which develop different problem solving approaches. This adds to our corporate strength, which ultimately improves our military readiness. DACOWITS provides support to P&R's mission by identifying, studying and providing recommendations on issues such as assignments, integration, advancement, health care, equipment and training, to name a few, which may impact a woman's decision to either initially join or remain on duty.
